Certuse Room

From 7:25 to 1:49 each day, every student at Mansfield High School plays the same role. We all cheer for our home teams, complain about the lack of parking spaces and eat the bbq chicken wraps in the cafeteria. But once the bell rings at the end of the day, each of us toss our books aside to do other things. Some of us stick around the school to play football or to sing in the choir, while others leave for after-school jobs at Shaw's or to just hang out with friends. Each person finds a focus in which his or her unique character can shine through. Knowing this, this year's yearbook staff wanted the yearbook to reflect not just our in-school activities, but the rest of our lives as well. Inside you'll find pictures from all aspects of students' lives: in the classroom, extracurricular activities, and out-of-school candids. So grab a chair and take a minute to relive all of the unforgettable moments of the year...by day and by night.

YEARBOOK

Mrs. Leveroni

Mrs. Eleanor Leveroni, who served as the English Department Chair for nearly a decade was one of Mansfield High School's most beloved teachers. Throughout her career, she instilled in her students an appreciation for elevated literature while provoking a higher level of thinking along the way. As she guided her students through difficult and often demanding books, Mrs. Leveroni encouraged her students to focus on finding the messages of the stories they read instead of worrying about the grades they received. She listened to everyone's opinion and encouraged her students to step out of their comfort zone and explore ideas. Mrs. Leveroni helped each student realize and perform up to his or her full potential, and under her direction students learned to write with a fluency and clarity that would serve them throughout their lives. Mrs. Leveroni also provided valuable guidance, and many of her students fondly recall her "college talks." She devoted entire class periods to answering students' questions and calming everyone's fears. "Mrs. Lev", as she was affectionately called, retired to a well-deserved rest in September 2004, and her presence is greatly missed.

"Mrs. Leveroni had an impact on more students lives over the years, than any other teacher." Brian Dundun

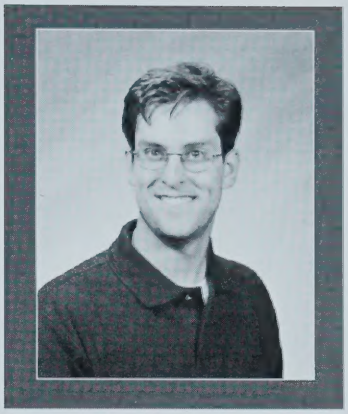
"She was a great and influential teacher and her presence will be missed." Katie Brague

"She was an amazing teacher and touched many students. I know that she has changed my view about English. She not only taught her students about English, but about life." Maggie Hayes

"Through years of teaching, she has never failed to stimulate the minds of her students. She taught me how to reach my highest potential as a student and as a person. Her influence reaches far beyond the confines of MHS into the hearts of every student she has ever taught." Christine Miller

DEDICATION

Mr. Sheehan



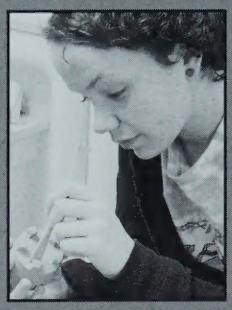
Mr. Sheehan has surely proven that he is well deserving of this honor. Not only does he teach ninth and twelve grade English and Creative Writing, but he is also our class adviser. On top of all of that, he took over the job of the adviser of the High School newspaper, The Flipside and has revamped the paper with a fresh perspective and approach. He turns English class into a place where students love to be. When asked what they think of him, many students simply reply with "Sheehan's the man!" He works great with the class officers and the entire senior student body. He is someone you can always depend on and go to for advice. He not only teaches us inside the classroom but also teaches us life lessons outside of the classroom. He has given us much of his time and effort on things such as fund raising, float plans, and not to mention the prom. Just last year from the month of December until the month of May he spent many long hours of helping, encouraging, and supporting. Those long strenuous hours paid off and the prom was a night to remember.

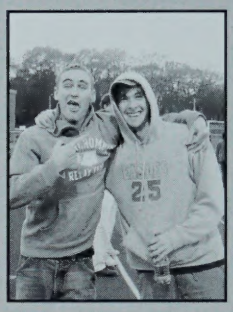
"Mr. Sheehan is the man. He is a very fun and caring teacher. He has taught me a lot, not only about English but about life in general. I feel that he is most deserving of this dedication." Kerri Walsh

"Mr. Sheehan is a great English teacher and a perfect class adviser." Matt Anderson

"He is our class adivsor, and you can always go to him for advice." Tania Sarkis

"Mr. Sheehan has put in a lot of hardwork and dedication towards our class for the last four years. Sheehan is the man!" Dan Buck





"See, you and me
Have a better time than most can dream
Have it better than the best
And so we can pull on through
Whatever tears at us
Whatever holds us down
And if nothing can be done
We'll make the best of what's around"

Held at the elegant Christina's in Foxborough, the 2004 Junior-Senior Prom was a journey through time. The Prom Committee turned the clocks back to the 1940s, to days when gas was only twenty-five cents a gallon, radio programs were the entertainment, and couples danced to the Charleston. After saying goodbye to their parents in the parking lot, students were greeted inside with red roses, black-and-white movies, and tables with names like Marilyn Monroe or Frank Sinatra. Mingling students ate from a delicious buffet before proceeding to the dance floor. The magic paused for only a moment when everyone watched Prom King Terry Young and Prom Queen Ashley Shaker dance to Eric Clapton's "You Look Wonderful Tonight". Before leaving to gather once again at post-prom parties, students ended the evening with one last song, Jessica Simpson's "Take My Breath Away". Everyone departed with an inscribed margarita glass to serve as a reminder for all of the great memories.

Kerri, Andrea and Tena realized why pockets are meant to be on the inside. Leading the student body as Student Council members, Julie Smith and Kerry Gilmore loved the turnout of spirit this year. Caught after lunch the next day, Kerry gives a thumbs up for revenge of the nerds day.

As tradition dictates, the week leading up to Mansfield's Homecoming football game is always designated as "Spirit Week". This year students decked out in poodle skirts, inside-out jeans and taped glasses. On Friday, the halls were one big maze of green and white as students plastered themselves with the school colors. Everyone looked foreward to the end of the day and the big Homecoming Rally. Students were greeted in the gym by music from the Band, and the choir graciously opened the rally with "God Bless America". After a great performance by the cheerlearders, the Student Council organized a dodgeball game to allow each class to showcase its hidden talent. Although faced with stiff competition from each of the other grades, the Juniors emerged victorious. To conclude the hour, Anuj Agrawal and Ashley Drake were crowned Homecoming King and Queen. Students left that day pumped up for the big game against Stoughton's Black Knights, sure that Mansfield was going to continue its great winning streak.

The weather for Homecoming 2004 was cold but clear, the perfect conditions for a parade and football game. For the first time, the parade ended in the MHS parking lot instead of Memorial Park. Crowds of chilly but excited students gathered around the floats and eagerly waited to find out which class would win the float contest. It was a tough decision for all the judges because each float had a creative theme, and it was obvious that the students had put in a lot of hard work. The junior class was thrilled when they learned that their "Bury the Knights" theme had prevailed. But the biggest highlight of the day came when the football team emerged victorious over the Stoughton Black Knights with a score of thirty-five to zero.

It was the first Homecoming Game played on Alumni Field, and they were excited to set a winning precedent. Highlights from the game included an amazing touchdown by Brian Mallett off of a screened pass, a surprise touchdown by quarterback Tyler D'Ambra during a broken play, and a fantastic block by Brett McDermott. Fans went back to their cars frozen but thrilled that the Hornets had improved their record to 8-0.

The 2004 Major League Baseball Season is one that no Red Sox fan will ever forget. The Sox were in the playoffs, and everyone was holding their breath to see if they could finally break The Curse. During those fateful weeks, all of New England stayed up late to root for their favorite team, and at Mansfield High School bleary-eyed students shuffled through the halls decked out in their favorite Red Sox gear. Everyone pulled out all the stops to cheer on the Red Sox, and many students developed superstitions they were sure were keeping the players on a roll. From playing Madden during the games to holding our ankles while Curt Shilling pitched, everyone made sure that the already-cursed Red Sox would not become any more jinxed. Well, whatever we did- it worked. After losing the first three games of the American League Championship to the hated New York Yankees, the Sox went on to win an unprecedented four straight for one of the biggest upsets in sports history. Boston then went on to sweep the Saint Louis Cardinals 4-0, winning the title for the first time in eighty-six years. The following Saturday, millions of fans poured into Boston to celebrate, with attendance at the Parade reaching well into the millions. People everywhere couldn't wait to see firsthand the players that they had watched all season long- people like Johnny Damon, David "Big Papi" Ortiz, and newly-named MVP Manny Ramirez, who are now Boston Legends. Red Sox First Baseman Kevin Millar expressed it best; "We wanted to do it so bad for the city of Boston. To win a World Series with [The Curse] on our chests- it's unbelievable!"

This is what we've been waiting 86 years for.

Toss your Discman and make room for an iPod because the trends of 2004-2005 have taken over Mansfield High School. The shell-toe Adidas Superstars have been replaced with clogs of every color and style. And even if clogs aren't your cup of tea, there are always the fuzzy Ugg boots that will keep your feet warm on those freezing New England days, or the newly revamped Chuck Taylor Converse All-Stars to brighten up your wardrobe. To lock in the heat and keep the rest of the body warm, students count on puffy down vests and EMS gear. When students decide to dress up a little, most choose a style between preppy and bohemian. Flipped collars and ripped jeans have been re-born from the eighties. When it comes to accessories, many MHS girls have picked up name brand purses such as Coach and Louis Vitton. Inside these purses, the ever popular flip-phones have become more high tech with their exotic ring tones and digital cameras. For the more sporty, colorful nalgene water bottles have become a must. They are virtually indestructible and are able to withstand a fall from a desk or a careless throw from the sidelines. Although these styles seem to be everywhere right now, they will soon be back and will become relics of our high school days.

Every year after the Thanksgiving decorations have been put away, the students at Mansfield High School turn out to paint the town. Mrs. Oberlander has been organizing the event for several years now with each year being a huge success. After-school and on the weekends, students show up at their assigned business to create their works of art, gearing the town for the upcoming holiday season. This year images of Frosty the Snowman, Charlie Brown and the Peanuts, and the Grinch showed up on the windows of local businesses. Awards are given out based on creativity, imagination and originality. Although the paintings ar technically competing for prizes, it is really th students' holiday spirit that keeps them comin back. Says one student "I've been doing this sinc my freshman year. We always look forward t coming up with an idea for the window, an driving past it every day. Among many plays and productions is the newest tradition at MHS ... The Madrigal Dinner

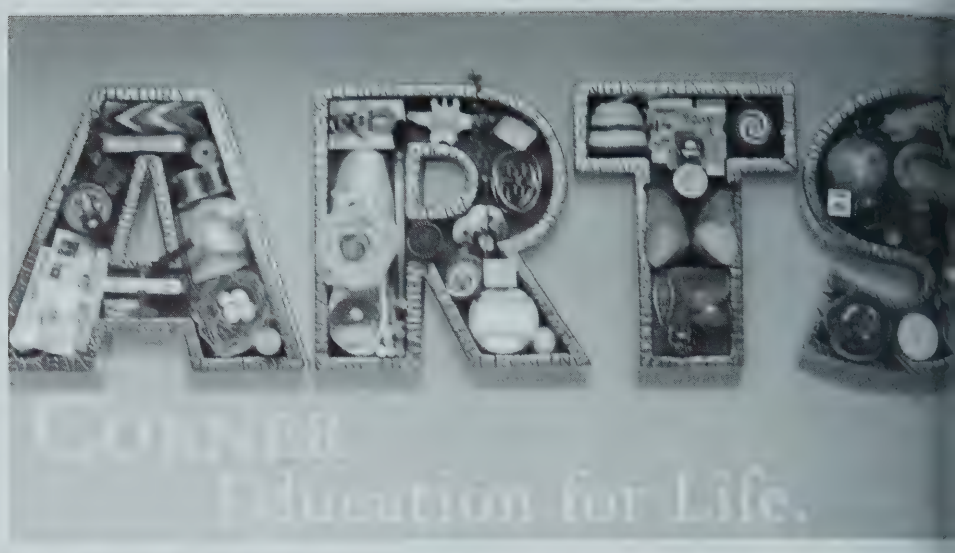
Come one come all to the banquet hall...

In early November the township of Mansfield and surrounding settlements were invited to take part in a medieval treat. For on those two nights they received the opportunity to meet spry young scholars of all different ages, who played the roles of royalty, servants, dancers, jesters, and court pages. This event was forth of its kind and a Mansfield High School yearly tradition. The fourth annual Madrigal Dinner had one sole mission: to engage its audience in song and good cheer, and to merrily commence the holiday festivities of the year. A royal wedding set the mood, as the fine people enjoyed their food. Delightful was this year's performance, for it taught the lesson that love and beauty are often outwardly misunderstood, but can be discovered in the soul; the heart's realm of kindness is both noble and good.

Creative



Among the happiest students at Mansfield High School are the ones that can be found in the art rooms. Here, students are able to express themselves through many different mediums - from drawing to painting to ceramics. With Mrs. Fernandes as the new department head and the addition of Mrs. Martinelli, students now have four enthusiastic teachers to bring out their innermost creativity. Art students use the hallway display cases as their own personal galleries to show off their latest works. Everyone looks forward to their time in the art rooms because the atmosphere in the classrooms is relaxing and fun. Music of any kind is always playing in the background and the ceiling is decorated with the work of past students.

Students look forward to their senior year, when they are allowed to create a ceiling tile to leave behind their legacy. In addition to creating art for themselves, students also use their talents to give back to the community. The ceramics classes use the Empty Bowl Project to make the community aware of the less fortunate, while the Clay Prayers project gives society hope for a better tomorrow. As students continue to nurture their artistic talents, expect to see more emerging artists from MHS.

It's not the light at the end of the tunnel, it's the light within.

Although a nontraditional class, Project Teammate has become a staple to the curriculum at MHS. It is a relatively new program, but the unique experience it provides has quickly made it a favorite. Project Teammate creates an excellent learning opportunity for both mainstream and special education students. Each special education student is partnered with another student to provide them with a buddy to talk to, work with and just have some fun together! Every day, students in the Project Teammate class walk into the room to see the giant smiles of their new friends. Project Teammate partners exercise in the weight room, play sports in the gym and work on individual life skills. The class has travelled all over the region, with field trips to places like Flint Farm, the Norton Nursing Home, Papa Gino's, Wendy's, and even United Skates of America. Besides having a ton of fun, Project Teammate buddies also take on important jobs around the school by doing laundry, washing windows, and stacking juice and silverware in the cafeteria. In the vocational skills class, "coaches" reinforce appropriate work behavior and social skills in the vocational setting. Project Teammate is a good time for everyone - just look at the smiling faces in room 127.

The 2004 baseball team finished the season with an overall record of 9-11, just one win shy of qualifying for the State Tournament. Senior captain John Sperazza led the young team. As a shortstop and pitcher, Spaz led the team in both batting average and runs batted in.

Perhaps the biggest eye opener was that the team started eight underclassmen (seven juniors and one sophomore), by far the most in the Hockomock League. Leading the juniors on the team in average and runs batted in, Mike Walch made a name for himself in the league. His play was noticed by opposing coaches who were so impressed that they selected him to the Hockomock All-Star team. Junior Tyler D'ambra, who took the 2003 season off to throw javelin for the spring track team, returned to baseball and had a great year on the mound for the Hornets. He tied for the team lead in wins and was selected to the Hockomock All-Star team as well. Brian Mallett, a junior second baseman, did his best Pokey Reese impression all season long displaying great range and a strong arm - and oh yeah, he can hit, too. The Hornets also started sophomore Matt Birnie, who patrolled left field all season and held his own at the plate, finishing third on the team in batting average.

Some might look at the high number of underclassmen who started as a sign of weakness on the team. It isn't. The underclassmen that started gained great experience in pressure situations, and there is no substitute for experience.

After coming so close to making the tournament that they could practically taste it, the team will come out even hungrier in the 2005 season. With such a strong and determined senior class, look for the team to not only make the tournament, but advance past the first round.

Baseball is a love." - Bryant Gumbel

Under the guidance of Coach Brian Clemmey, the 2004 softball team finished the season with an overall record of 9-11. The team was young and led strongly by the junior class. At shortstop, Ashley Drake scooped up everything and hit well all year. The team had one of the best outfields in the Hock with Kerry Gilmore, Christy Macdonald and Rachel Buchanon. Kerry played a solid centerfield and displayed a cannon-like right arm which is easily stronger than that of Johnny Damon's. Christy patrolled left field, made consistently good plays and was clutch at the plate, which can be attributed to her great discipline. Rachel was responsible for the right side and wasn't afraid to get dirty, diving for anything close and never hesitating to show off her strong arm. Johnna Todesco pitched well all season, showed great support and was the "best teammate you could ask for", according to Kerry Gilmore.

The sophomore class also contributed to the success of the team and had many fans excited as they showed promise of a successful future for MHS softball. Erin Higgins batted lead-off all year. She hit an amazing .667, which was tops in the Hock. She has the ability to hit for power and average, and also drop down a bunt when she needs to. Her sister, Katie, plays 1st base and is an absolute vacuum. She scoops anything and everything so effortlessly you'd think she worked at Friendly's.

The team should enjoy a more successful season in 2005. The majority of the team will be juniors and seniors, all with game time experience and at least a year of varsity softball under their belt. Coach Clemmey will also have one more year of experience in the Hock and with his players. As his familiarity with the team and opponents grows, so should the team's win total.

The 2004 Boys Lacrosse team finished the season with an overall record of 7-11. They missed qualifying for the State Tournament by three wins, but had an exciting season which showcased an excellent junior class, which is a good sign for the 2005 season.

Senior captain Brian Kiley led the team and played excellent defense all season long. His consistentely good play was noticed and he was selected to the Hockomock All-Star team for the second year in a row by the areas surrounding coaches. Ryan Maclean, who started playing organized lacrosse as a junior in 2003, was selected to the Hockomock All-Star team for the second time in as many seasons.

The team was comprised of mostly juniors and the class as a whole showed great talent and maturity, as most of them earned large chunks of playing time. Zac Eagan, who quit hockey to hone his lacrosse skills during the winter, showed great improvement from his 2003 season and played well at midfield. Frank Unger and Jordan Buck played stalwart defense and were two of the more physical players on the team.

Although the team did not make the tournament, the season did not go to waste. The juniors and sophomores that made up the majority of the team all earned substantial playing time and grew more accustomed to the fast pace and high talent level of varsity lacrosse. Look for the team to rebound in 2005 and have a much more successful season.

Under the guidance of first year head coach Courtney Mueller, the 2004 girl's lacrosse team finished the season with an overall record of 10-8-2. The team finished second in the Hock behind King Phillip.

Tri-captains Leanne Gofredo, Jess Keefe, and Jenn Duggan led the team both vocally and by example. Each of them three year varsity letter winners, the girls knew what it took to make the tournament and strived to get each girl to perform to their potential. And did they ever do that.

The team was picked by many to finish near the bottom of the Hockomock standings, largely impart to a new coach that was unfamiliar with the league. Coach Mueller caught on quick and led the girls all the way to the State tournament.

The team had great contributions from nearly every player on the roster, a testament to the team's depth and solidarity of the lacrosse program in general. Junior Melissa Depierro led the team in scoring and was elected to the Hockomock All-Star team along with Jess Keefe, who finished second on the team in scoring. Lisa Maleiko was a wall in net all season and was among the leagues best in save percentage.

The team faced off against Cohasset in the State Tournament and won 11-8 in a game that they controlled from start to finish. They drew #1 seed Westwood in the second round, a team with a regular season record of 17-1. The girls played hard but were overmatched and fell victim to Westwood's speed and amazing accuracy. Westwood went on to win the state championship. Despite the loss, the girls remained upbeat and looked at Westwood as an example of where they would one day like to be.

For the 2005 season, the team will be captained by Brittany Joseph, Jenny Angers, and Lisa Maleiko. With leadership like that, it is hard to envision the team straying off their regularly successful course. Look for the team to again make the state tournament, and perhaps take the Hock title, as reigning champ King Phillip lost most of their talent to graduation.

In 2004, the boys tennis team finished with an overall record of 17-5, qualifying for the state tournament for the tenth straight season under the guidance of Coach Peter Larson. Giovanni Cuscina, voted to the Hockomock All-Star team and named team MVP by his peers, captained the team along with Ryan Maxwell and Denis Condon. They reaked havoc on opposing players en route to the team's tenth straight appearance in the state tournament.

Despite having three talented seniors leading the team, Coach Larson knew that it wouldn't be enough down the stretch. He began working with the underclassmen, recognized that all had potential, and from there he constructed a supporting cast for Cuscina, Doyle, and Condon. Heading the Junior class were Anuj Agrawal, Greg Morse, Ryan Doyle, and Chris Davis. Agrawal, already a Hockomock All-Star in 2003, had a stellar '04 campaign and earned an All-Star selection again. Morse possessed a never-say-die attitude, and his comeback wins attested to that. Doyle started most matches last year and played each with unrivaled tenacity. Davis started doubles with Mike Cyr and the tandem had a successful season. Coach Larson found a gem in Freshman Brett Governman and all teams took notice. In just his first season, Governman won the second singles spot and was selected to the Hock and Sun Chronicle All-Star teams. For his work ethic, overall success and great attitude, he was awarded the Coaches Award. With great young players coming from the junior and freshman class, it is easy to see how the team makes the tournament every year. Boys tennis doesn't rebuild. It simply reloads.

The team advanced through the tournament and found itself in the second round with ease, beating their first round opponent in straight matches. The team lost in the second round, but the players responded well. They were proud of their accomplishments, and rightfully so. For next season, the team's goal is not only to make the tournament but also to advance to the third round; a round that has eluded them for five years. Leading the team will be Co-Captains Anuj Agrawal and Greg Morse. All eyes remain on Brett Governman, who may be the one player that separates Mansfield from the rest of the league. Coach Larson has confidence in his team: "It should come down to Sharon and us for the Hock title. Sharon is really strong, but if we play tennis the way we are capable of doing so, we can beat them on any day. And that's the beauty of tennis."

The 2004 Girls Tennis team finished the season with a record of 12-12 overall, earning a birth in the State Tournament under the guidance of Coach Jackson. The team overcame many obstacles on their way to the tourney, including an injury to one of their key players.

The team was put in a tough situation when senior captain and #2 singles player Alexis Loehlein went down with an ankle injury midway through the season. The team's ability to fill that void with a new player every week speaks volumes of the teams depth and of the players willingness to sacrifice their own personal interests for the better of the team.

Senior captain Diana Eastman led the team and paired up with junior Maggie Hayes for the #1 doubles. The two had great on court chemistry and guarded the lines well. Senior Kristin Mahoney paired up with sophomore Jackie Eastman and the two had the best record on the team. Kristin's experience and Jackie's raw athleticism complemented each other perfectly. Junior Ashley Fallon won the #1 singles spot with her impressive tryout and continued to play well all season. She took on the opponent's best singles player every match and finished the season with a winning record.

The team drew Dover-Sherborn in the first round of the State Tournament. The matches were all exciting, and going into the last one the teams were tied. The team's chance of advancing rested on the shoulders of Jackie Eastman. It was the 3rd singles match of her lifetime, as she won the match with an amazing backhand shot that landed just before the end line. The team matched up against a high seed in the second round, and on that day their tournament run came to an end.

The team lost some key players due to graduation, and it will take a lot of effort to earn another birth in the State Tournament. But with seniors as talented as Maggie Hayes and Ashely Fallon, I wouldn't exactly rule them out, either. Coach Jackson consistently motivates the girls and has the unique ability to get all of her players to play up to their potential.

The 2004 Boys Spring Track team will go down as the most decorated in MHS history. The team finished with a final record of 8-0, winning the Hockomock Championship, Class C Relay Championship, and finishing 5th at the All-State meet. No matter the location or event, when Mansfield stepped up to the line they were expected to win. There weren't many let downs. The team's success can be attributed to its depth, with great performances coming from all classes.

Seniors Terry Young, Derek McCune, and Gerry Willette had great seasons. Young was voted captain and team MVP by his peers and coaches, and rightfully so. He was the Hockomock Champion in the 200m, 1st in the Class C meet and 4th in the state in the triple jump, All-State Champion and New England Champion in the 300m, and the Decathlon Champion. Results like that are hard to argue with, and Young was considered among the best, if not the best athlete in Massachusetts. McCune was the Hockomock Champion and Class C Champion in the shot put, where he set a new school record with a throw of 55'5.5". Willette, coming off of knee surgery from an injury suffered in football, really helped the team. He was the Hockomock Champion in the 200m and 1st in the Class C meet. All three earned Hockomock All-Star selections.

Standout underclassmen also contributed greatly to the team's success. Juniors Brett McDermott, Mike Watson, and Brian Dundon led the class. McDermott possesses great speed (just ask any defensive back in the Hock) and used it to help the mile relay team place 3rd in New England. Watson ran the individual mile, with a personal best time of 4:37 placing him 2nd in the Hock and 3rd at the Class C meet. Sprinter Brian Dundon was a member of the mile relay team with McDermott and also placed 5th in the Hocks, 2nd in the Class C meet, and 16th in the All-State meet. With results like those McDermott, Watson and Dundon clearly earned their Hockomock All-Star selections.

As such great athletes graduated, the team is left with some gaping holes, but the underclassmen are prepared to fill them for the 2005 season. Captain Mike Watson remains confident in his team's potential. "We definitely lost some great athletes last year to graduation, but we should be fine this year. It is our senior year, our last chance to accomplish some of our goals and we have trained way too hard to accept anything less than the success that we are used to achieving."

spring track

The 2004 girls spring track team finished first in the Hock with an outstanding record of 8-0. This marked the first time in school history that both the Boys and Girls spring track teams won the Hockomock Championship. Aside from winning the Hock, the girls were also the Class C Champs and finished third at the All-State meet. The girls' great season can be attributed to their dedication, hard work, and persistence in striving for excellence.

A must for any championship team is leadership from the veterans, and senior captains Tricia Harrison, Lindsay Dixon, and Alicia Zoenshine led both verbally and by example. Harrison, who threw the shot put, was the Division III champion and also placed 1st at the All-State meet. Both Dixon and Zoenshine turned in consistently good performances in the 300m hurdles.

The juniors and sophomores contributed greatly to the teams success. Junior Kailin Collins was the Division III Champ in the two mile and finished 3rd at the All-State meet. Katie Brague, another standout junior, was the Division III Champ in the mile and finished 4th at the All-State meet. Sophomore Kelly Regam used her strong right arm that she honed through years of baseball in her javelin throws, which was strong enough to make her the Division III State Champion. Sophomore Courtney Lincoln scored the most points on the team and was voted team MVP by her coaches and teammates.

The girls should enjoy another successful season in 2005 with many standout athletes ready to fill the holes that the graduating seniors left. Another 8-0 season may be unlikely, but the girls are definatley the preseason favorite to win the Hock and are considered to have one of the best teams in all of Division III.

They saw the impact that an undefeated season had on the school and the town as a whole. They saw the joy in everyone's faces, and they saw their teammates reach almost iconic statuses across the community. They saw those same teammates, the 32 seniors of that undefeated season, graduate. They read the papers prior to the 2004 season's start. They knew that nobody believed in them. Not one paper picked them to return to glory. Nobody believed they could do it. So what did they do? They went out and did it. The trophy is home, for a second straight season.

After a summer full of grueling practices, the Hornets began their season with a 34-0 win against Keene, New Hampshire. The team went on to win its next five games, outscoring their opponents 205-20 during that stretch, before facing their first test in week seven against North Attleboro. Down 17-14 in the fourth quarter, Brett McDermott returned a punt 95 yards for a touchdown, giving the Hornets a 21-17 victory.

The Hornets won their next two games by a combined score of 68-6, their record now 9-0. The only game left to play was the Thanksgiving Day game against Foxboro, the only game in the state featuring two undefeated teams. Nearly 6,000 fans packed into Alumni Field to watch the game. Foxboro lead 7-0 after the first quarter. The game was tied as Tyler D'Ambra connected with Mike Walch on a seven-yard pass. On the ensuing Foxboro possession, the Warriors were clicking on all cylinders. Ross Giffune connected with Joey Bodeiri on a screen pass and it looked as if it was going to be a 70-yard touchdown until McDermott came out of nowhere and sent Bodieri into a 360- flatspin, more importantly jarring the ball loose. That play proved to be the turning point of the game, as the Hornets went on to score 28 unanswered points. "The Hit", as it is still referred, to was featured on every news station in Massachusetts, over and over again.

The Hornets drew Plymouth North in the first round of the playoffs and thanks to three interceptions by Jeff Creedon escaped with a 28-22 victory. The Hornets then advanced to the Superbowl against Walpole, but they knew that wasn't enough. They had to win it. With the score tied 7-7 in the second quarter, Mike Walch ran six yards for the go-ahead touchdown. The Hornets controlled the game from there, and won 24-14. In the last two years, the team is 25-0. They have won two Superbowls and two Hock Championships. Although they are losing an extremely talented senior class, the JV team is poised to continue the winning tradition, coming off two undefeated seasons of their own.

The field hockey team opened their arms to a new leader this year. Last year Coach Levine retired and passed the torch on to her former player, Theresa Degirolamo. Coach D came in ready to share her new strategies and help the girls improve their skills. The season started off like most with a timed mile. Everyone had trained over the summer and wanted to impress the new coach. All the girls finished their mile in under eight minutes, with many even under seven. The team is never one to disappoint, qualifying for tournament yet again. The girls finished the season with a 10-4-5 record, following the advice of their new coach to, "chew on rocks," never giving up when times got tough and to "raise the bar".

It was a new season for everyone. Although it was the same sport, field hockey was looked at from a different angle. Practices honed in on communication, flow, and the team motto of "togetherness."

The team had a significantly larger amount of seniors this year than the previous, going from four, to a whopping fourteen. Each girl brought something positive to the game, whether it was in the offense, defense, or mid-field, the team would not have been as successful had one of the girls not been there. This closeness of the team also contributed to the auspicious outcome of the season, as well as the enjoyment of it. Although the girls only made it to the first round of tournament, they worked hard everyday with their body and hearts to make the season one to remember.

Captains Thomas Hernon and Anuj Agrawal led the varsity soccer team to another post-season in the 2004 season. With a record of 13-3-2, the most wins for boys varsity soccer in Mansfield history, the team faced Martha's Vineyard on Alumni Field in the first round and came out with a win with just one goal the entire game. Quite possibly one of the best games of the season came next as the team travelled to Walpole. Regulation play ended in a tie, taking both teams to sudden death overtime. With everything on the line, the defense kept Walpole from netting a goal, forcing both teams into a decisive shootout where it was one on one. Thomas Hernon, Anuj Agrawal and Fred Hannon drove past the Walpole goalie to get three goals while James Moore was a brick wall in the Mansfield net, allowing only two Walpole goals to sneak by him. Mansfield advanced to take on Somerset for the second time in two years in the tournament and ended their historic season with a 1-0 loss, the same outcome from the previous tournament game they played.

Leading both the Hock and the team with the most goals scored was Thomas Hernon and KC Smith. The team was ranked 12th in the state by the Boston Globe and proved once more that Mansfield soccer is on the rise as a tough, competitive team. Chosen to lead the team as captains in 2005 were Juniors Josh Doyle, Joe Hunt and Jamie Harrington.

The 2004 girl's soccer team personified everything that a team should. They worked together, developed a strong sense of camaraderie, and fought hard through adversity. They finished with an overall record of 7-8-3, narrowly missing the state tournament in what was one of the strongest Hockomock Leagues in recent memory. The team was lead by two dedicated senior captains, Julie Smith and Ashley Drake. As the only seniors on the team they knew that the leadership role rested solely upon their shoulders, but were both ready after being varsity players for their entire career.

Leading scorer Kelly Regan carried the teams' offense. She led the team in both goals and assists and her play earned her the respect of her teammates and opposing coaches. She was named a starter on the Hockomock All Star team. She was also named to the Brockton Enterprise team, Sun Chronicle All Star team, and selected as an Eastern Mass All Star. Sophomore Brook Mackenzie and junior Erin Higgins played well consistently and caught the eyes of opposing Hockomock coaches, both narrowly missing Hockomock All Star selections.

The 2005 season should have a better outcome than the last. The team will benefit from a strong underclass with great experience. When asked of his teams chances of success next season, Coach Smith responded, as most coaches would: " It all depends on how hard the girls want to work in the off season. If they stay in shape and run and dribble, they should be fine. We need to keep in mind that we play in one of the toughest leagues in the State."

When the season began, nobody expected the Boy's Cross Country team to repeat as Hockomock and State Champs. Coach Dibiase, however, knew that her team had it in them. As a result of months of training that tested the will of even the most dedicated athletes, the team went undefeated (8-0) and earned the title of Hock and Division III State Champ for the second year in a row.

The team was led by senior captains Matt Anderson and Mike Caeran. One would think that Anderson's thick beard and heavy sideburns would slow him down, but if his opponents were asked they'd swear they made him faster. Normally reserved, Caeran used the trails as his outlet. He chose to lead by example, and clearly the team followed. As his win total and top five finishes piled up, so did the team's win totals. Senior Matt Meagher was named to the Boston Globe All-Scholastic team and was also voted team MVP by his teammates - the ultimate sign of respect.

Aside from earning two consecutive Hockomock and State Championships and compiling a 16-0 record over the last two years, the team also excelled in the classroom. Eight runners were named to the National Honor Society, and two of the eight were named to the Boston Globe All-Scholastic team. For her team's outstanding performances both on the trails and in the classroom, Coach Dibiase was selected as the Division III Coach of the Year by the Boston Globe, the job's highest individual honor.

Although the team will lose some great athletes to graduation, the future is still promising for the program. Ryan Collins, who will be a junior in the fall of 2005, literally ran circles around his opponents and was the state's lone sophomore on the Globe's All-Scholastic team. Collins was also named to the Hockomock and Sun Chronicle All-Star teams. Also expected to contribute to the teams' success are standout underclassmen Brendan Barca and Jason O'Connell.

The 2004 Girls cross-country team finished the season with an overall record of 7-1. Although the team failed to repeat as State Champs, they finished with a better record than most people and media outlets predicted that they would after losing one of the deepest senior classes in the history of the girls cross country program.

Senior captains Katie Brague and Kelly McMullen lead the team using an array of motivational comments and by setting a winning example both in attitude and work ethic. Weeks before the season was to begin, everyone noticed that Katie Brague was all over the roads. Her chosen method of transportation? Her feet. Everywhere Katie had to go, she seemed to always be running, and every time one saw her, it seemed as if more of her teammates had joined. The girls continuously at the front of the pack became fixtures on the back page of the Sun Chronicle, under the heading Top Five Finishers.

Brague, McMullen, and Kailin Collins consistently turned in excellent performances. Collins was named to the Hockomock and Sun Chronicle All-Star teams as well as the Boston Globe All-Scholastic team. She was also voted team MVP by her teammates.

The team received solid contributions from a number of underclassmen as well. Katie Meagher, Lauren Brown, Brianna Sionne and Allison Goffredo consistently improved their finishing times as the season progressed, which signifies a bright future for the girls cross country program. If Meagher and Goffredo progress as well as their siblings they will be all stars by the time their high school careers are over.

Although the team is losing a strong senior class to graduation, the underclassmen are poised to continue the winning tradition and should do so under the guidance of Coach Dibiase, who is just two years removed from her last Girls Division III State Championship.

Weeks before the golf season began, Coach Kelly took the team to the Killington Mountains in Vermont for a four day "vacation", allowing the players to play on some of the best courses New England has to offer. That vacation, as well as the neumerous pre-season practices and trips to the driving range paid off as the team finished the season with a 10-6 record.

The team was lead by Senior Andy Olson and a strong underclass. Freshman Grant Certuse earned an All-Hock selection in his first year, which gives him a chance an at unprecedented four for his career. Connor Hayes, a sophomore, placed second in the Hockomock Championships. The teams most valuable player was a junior, Brian Kulick. Ben Grant, also a junior, was named the teams Most Improved Player. Coaches from around the state noticed that Mansfield is an up and coming program, with its best years still ahead of it.

The 2005 season should be a great one as the team returns many key underclassmen. The team will be lead by Brian Kulick, Connor Hayes and Grant Certuse and are the preseason favorites to win the Hock. Although competition will be solid, there are no Hockomock teams with as much depth and raw talent as the Mansfield squad has.

The 2004 season marked the revival of Mansfield High School volleyball. The team finished with an overall record of 11-9, the team's best win total in over four years.

A strong senior class deserves credit for carrying the team through the season en route to the State Tournament. Rachel Buchanan and Kristin Romanko captained the team, both earning a spot on the Hockomock All Star team. Rachel was a setter, responsible for placing the ball high in the air for the middle hitters to slam over the net and Kristin was her favorite target. The team had another great setter-middle hitter combo in Alicia Dean and Tina Grant. The dynamic duo earned many of the team's key points down the stretch.

The junior class was solid, and the talent of three girls stood out above their peers. Hilary Turner had a solid season and is, in the opinion of her teammates, one of the team's best passers. Gina Candella was the top server in the junior class, consistently serving with both power and accuracy. Cindy Conquest has already begun to make a name for herself in the Hock with her ability to use misdirections to fool the opponents. She jumps up, looks one way as if to hit it there, and then hits it to another spot on the court, completely fooling the other team.

With such a talented and experienced junior class ready to take over for the graduating seniors, Mansfield volleyball should pick up where it left off and begin another tournament run. In 2005 look for Gina, Hilary, and Cindy, to have an excellent season and perhaps earn selections to the Hockomock All-Star team.

The football team couldn't have done it without them. Throughout the season, despite the increasingly cold and windy nights, the 2004 Fall Cheerleaders could always been seen on the sidelines of the football field. They used their cheers and dances to pump up the crowd, and inspired the football team to its second straight Super Bowl victory.

This year the cheerleaders were led by a great group of seniors, who inspired the rest of the team by their positive attitudes. Captains Toni D'Innocenzo and Ashaley Kane, along with Coach Sharon Guthrie, choreographed the team's dances and stunts. Toni and Ashaley, along with Shannon O'Neill, then taught the moves to the rest of the girls. Tina Green specialized in making up and demonstrating the new "stomps" for the year. Erin McCarter also helped to inspire the girls with her hard work, and her willingness to make changes when requested by the coach. Underclassman standouts included Sarah Passanisi and Britney Bolin, whose cooperation and positive attitudes were greatly appreciated by Coach Sharon Guthrie. The MVP for the year was Christa Cornetta, and Most Dedicated went to Katie Donahue.

This was the season that was supposed to be the dawning of a new era for the boys basketball team. The team had a new coach in Mike Vaughan. They were coming off a season in which they missed the tournament by one win. And they had a new crown to defend, Roundball Tournament Champion. After the team won its first game rather easily, all looked well. Then the team hit a funk that would stay with them until the closing games of the season. The season, however, was fun to watch.

Fans saw the emergence of Corey Eason and Eitan Bogoslavski. Eason, who earned playing time on varsity as a freshman, matured into a dominant low-post player capable of grabbing 10+ rebounds on any given night. Bogoslavski proved that he could run the point, and that he had bettered his outside shot. Seniors Matt Pierce was money all season long from outside of the arc while Joe Blacker's baby hook was remeniscient of Dr. J's. Brian Mallett returned to basketball after a two year hiatus, and the fans welcomed back his hustle and tenacity. Tyler D'Ambra proved yet again that he can lead any offense- whether it's on the football field or in the confines of a gym.

The team failed to reach its first two goals, but their last goal of winning the Roundball Tournament was still reachable. They played as if a bid for the tournament was still alive and advanced to the championship game against Dedham, a team that had already locked up a spot in the State Tournament. Matt Pierce was solid all game, hitting key three pointers down the stretch to help the Hornets to victory. Also playing well were JP Siddhu, Joe Blacker, and Brett McDermott. Brian Mallett was named MVP of the Roundball Tournament for his great performances in both games.

Although the season may not have gone the way the players and coaches wanted it to go, it certainly ended on a high note. The seniors leave with two Roundball Championships. The juniors now know what they must do differently to better their chances at making the tournament in 2006 They got their taste of winning, now it's up to them to stay hungry.

Coming off a year in which they went far into the state tournament, Coach Redding and the 2004-2005 team knew that expectations were high. With that in mind, they set out to have a season as good, if not better than the previous year.

The team received strong contributions from its experienced seniors. Ashley Drake, Kristin Romanko, and Christy MacDonald captained the team and each contributed in their own unique way. Drake was all hustle and when she wasn't hitting three's she was terrorizing opposing players with her stifling defense. Romanko played center and became one of the school's all-time leading shot blockers mid-way through the season. As a forward, MacDonald was a strong force on the offensive glass. Darchelle Clark earned the Most Improved Player award, consistently improving upon each performance. As juniors, the Higgins sisters only improved their legend, with Erin leading the team in both scoring and assists and Katie leading the team in three point field goals. Erin was named to the Hockomock and Sun Chronicle All-Star teams for her dominant play. Kelly Regan led the team in rebounds and steals and finished third on the team in scoring. For her contributions on both ends of the floor, she was named team MVP.

With a 17-5 record, the team qualified for the state tournament. In the first round they squared off against Oliver Ames, a team that had beaten them twice already in the season. The key to winning the game was to hold OA's notorious three point shooter down, and for most of the game they did. Mansfield was up two with just under five seconds to play and the ball ended up in just that shooter's hands. She shot it, everyone held their breath, and then the ball rimmed out. Upset city, baby. The large student body crowd went nuts, and it was a great win for the team. They played Walpole in the next round, and lost by a good margin in a game where nothing seemed to click for the Hornets. Walpole was the defending state champion and their experience showed. It was a great season for Mansfield Girls Basketball, and they proved that they are among the elite teams in Division III.

In 2004, the Mansfield Boys Indoor track team led the Hockomock League in just about every event. After graduation, the winter track team for the following year would be good, but they lost too many good athletes to win another league title. Well again for Mansfield athletics, that is not the case. The boys worked harder to take another victory lap at the Reggie Lewis Center in Boston with another Hockomock League trophy. Winning both the dual meet and the league meet title, the boys remained undefeated. Coached by Jule Collins, the team was led by captains Jon Antonucci, Jeremy Langton, Matt Meagher, and Mike Watson.

At the league meet, the team captured top performances by sophomore Ryan Collins, who earned first place in the 2-mile and Matt Meagher who came in first in the 1-mile. Freshmen Powell Simpson took second place in the 300-meters as Senior Greg Clayman also took second place in the 50-meter dash. With a big addition to the team's total points, Jon Antonucci and Steve Trexler took second and third place in the shot put. The meet was topped off with a victory of the backbone of the track team: the 4 by 4. The 2004-2005 Girls Winter Track season was certainly one to remember. For the first time in Mansfield High School history, the team was the sole winner of the Hockomock League. Last season, the team tied for first place with Franklin High School, who had won the title every year for the last decade. This year, led by captains Katie Brague, Kailin Collins and Julie Smith, the Mansfield Girls wanted the title all for themselves. This matchup was the first of the season, and after training hard for three straight weeks, Mansfield beat Franklin in outstanding fashion. The rest of the season, however, did not come easily. The girls battled illness and injuries throughout the winter, and trained hard, holding practice even when other teams in the league canceled because of inclement weather. Their hard work and perseverence paid off, as the team won each of their tri-meets to go 8-0. The winning streak continued as the girls won the Hockomock League Championship Meet and the Class C State Meet. In addition to the several senior standouts, many of the team's points were scored by underclassmen. Due to the efforts of these young girls, the future looks bright for the team.

Coming off of a 6-14-1 finish in the '04 season, the future looked grim for MHS hockey. Armed with six seniors and a cast of underclassmen and determined to avoid another embarrassing season, the '05 Hornets shocked the state and the league finishing with a regular season record of 15-4-1.

Question marks that surrounded the team were quickly answered in the season opening Sun Chronicle Tournament. In the first round, KP led 4-1 in the third period before the Hornets scored four goals in the final 10 minutes to earn the victory. For the first time. the Hornets were in the championship. Bishop Feehan was up 5-2 in the third before the Hornets put together another breathtaking rally and tied the game with one minute left. Feehan won in the shootout, but the Hornets had made a statement: they would never quit. Their high level of play continued for the next 17 games, in which they compiled a 12-4-1 record. In that stretch, the Hornets had many memorable games, such as defeating Canton for the first time in the program's history and traveling to Martha's Vineyard and winning 8-5 after being down by three goals in the third period. Any player will say that it's the Vineyard game that stands out as that was when the they realized they were a part of something special - the resurrection of Mansfield Hockey.

In the State Tournament the team faced Cambridge Rindge and Latin. Hundreds of students flocked to Foxboro to witness the 4-1win. It was the program's first State Tournament victory. The Hornets then traveled to Bourne to play Marshfield, in what many call the best Division II playoff game they have ever seen. After ending regulation tied 4-4, the teams would skate to a tie in the next two overtime periods which spanned two days. Marshfield eventually won in the sixth and final period of hockey.

Over the course of 23 games, the 19 skaters that the coaches picked during tryouts meshed together not only to form a team in every sense of the word, but a family. A family that will forever remember the locker room antics, the joys of brotherhood, and their improbable dream season that taught them a valuable life lesson: with a little hard work, dedication to the task at hand, and determination, anything can be accomplished.

The 2004-2005 wrestling team had one of the most successful seasons in the program's history. Senior captains Jim Connors and Mark DiSanto had amazing seasons, each of them going undefeated, for a combined record of 71-0. Connors was the heavyweight state champion with a final record of 37-0. He was also the Hockomock League MVP and was named to its all-star team as well. DiSanto went 34-0 and was the Division III state champion in the 112 pound weight class. He was named to the Hockomock All-Star team and was also the South Sectional Champion.

The team also received strong contributions from the underclassmen. Dave Arnold and Jake Bolin both had great years and serve as a sign of great things to come for the wrestling program. Arnold finished with a 36-2 record in the 103 pound weight class. He was named to the Hockomock All-Star team and made it all the way to the finals in the South Sectionals. Bolin wrestled in the 130 pund weight class and finished the season with a record of 31-12. He was a finalist in the Hockomock League tournament and finished fourth in the sectionals.

It was a great year for the wrestling program and the team should fare well in upcoming seasons, with great sophomores such as Dave Arnold, Jake Bolin, and Steve Courtelidis ready to fill the shoes of the departing seniors.

The 2004-2005 girls gymnastics season was one of the best seasons in school history. Two years removed from their last Hockomock Championship, the girls gave the league a run for their money.

The upperclassmen performed well all season long. Jenny Angers and Toni-Ann D'Innocenzo led the team all season long and were excellent all season on the balance beam and vault, respectively. Maddie Gamble, coming off her award winning sophomore year, had a great season and turned in consistentely good floor routines.

The underclassmen also contributed greatly. 2003-2004's MVP, sophomore Laura Angers had yet another great year and serves as a promise of great things to come. Erin Carroll had a solid year on the bars. Britteny Bolin performed well consistentely, as did Danielle Langois and Alyssa Arcieri. Leo Ryan offered his unwavering support all season long and was a great contributor to the fun atmosphere at practices and events.

Next year, the gymnastics team should continue climbing the ladder to success, as they have been improving since they lost many key seniors after their Hockomock Championship two years ago. The team has a solid core of underclassmen and good leadership atop, and should make some noise at meets across New England next year.

"Everyone gets scared, and everyone falls. The key is to get right back up and try again." - Shannon Miller

Winter Cheerleading

The Winter Cheerleaders could always be seen on the side of the basketball court, inspiring the players to try their best. Led by captains Amanda Chase and Vanessa Sepuleveda, the girls' cheers and dances also helped to pump up the crowd and get everyone excited for the game. Liz Burge led the team with great leadership and with a constant smile, was respected and well-liked by everyone on the team. She was given the important role of a back-spot, and although nervous at the beginning of the season she stuck with it and became much more comfortable as the season progressed. Underclassman Cassie Peon also worked extremely hard in her role of stunting, and always provided a laugh for the rest of the girls. Katie Kiley was also a standout underclassman as her versatility and positive attitude made her extremely easy to work with. At the end of the year banquet, Amanda Chase was voted Most Dedicated, and Vanessa Sepuleveda was named MVP.

Figure Skating

The figure skating program grows each year and gains in popularity as the girls from Mansfield make a name for themselves. Skaters must not only exemplify the same hard-work, consistency and dedication as other athletes, but they must also commit to extremely long hours and early mornings to get sufficient ice time to hone their skills. Competing against over a hundred other high school teams, Mandy Zimmerman, Katie McCarter and Kerry Walsh finished with third place prizes, earning medals at the North Shore open competition. As captain, Kerry Walsh has led the team both on and off the ice. Junior Katie McCarter will take over as captain upon Kerry's graduation and with Kim McCarter, Sarah Sterling, Mandy Zimmerman and Alyssa Beaton will look to take the team to a new level.

THE SCOOP

"Will teachers please turn their TVs to channel 4 for the Scoop." With those twelve words every Tuesday and Friday, classrooms around MHS fill with the glow of their televisions. Replacing the intercom announcements, which had become seemingly outdated, The Scoop brings the student body and faculty up to date with happenings around the school and the community, with a few laughs thrown in. Editing Sheff's Special, choosing the bumper music, finding just the right "take" from the news desk and perfecting each episode leaves members of The Scoop in the editing room long past school hours. Led by adviser Miss Murphy, The Scoop has become a fully-equipped news show, complete with cameramen, editors, and dedicated reporters, with a goal of keeping students informed and entertained.

MOCK TRIAL

After a one-year absence, the Mansfield High School Mock Trial Team is back in action. The team is advised by Mr. Packard and new Vice Principal Mr. Rozmiarek. They presented a case about a research scientist accused of allowing an animal rights group into an animal testing facility when a fire breaks out resulting in the death of a facility employee. Acting as both lawyers and witnesses, the team practices their presentation of both the prosecution and defense. Students meet once a week for several hours to work on their case, practicing writing opening statements, cross-examining witnesses, and presenting evidence. Three times a year Mansfield competes live in a courtroom against another school. Volunteering their time to enforce the importance of knowledge of the law system, professional lawyers act as judges and evaluate each team. Teams are awarded points according to their presentation of the case and their personal manner. For the students who participate, Mock Trial is a great opportunity to learn more about court procedures and the law system that our country is based on.

THE FLIPSIDE

The Flipside, the newly re-titled MHS newspaper, has been revamped with a new staff and new adviser Mr. Sheehan. The FlipSide is a monthly paper that aims to "advocate for the improvement of student life," as the mission statements says, and to stir opinion in the student body. The writing staff and editors work to provide insight on problematic areas of the school as well as the accomplishments of individual students, clubs and teams. From the monthly Student Poll and Senior Sports Highlight to political arguments and drama department reviews, the "FlipSide's" new features serve to broaden the stories and reach all 1200 students of MHS. The paper has become more productive and effective in expressing the true opinions of the students with new editor positions and a greatly increased amount of writers and photographers.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

For the majority of the high school, foreign languages offer nothing more than painful hours of viewing verb tenses and flipping through endless packets filled with hieroglyphics that only the elite members of the school can translate. MHS wastes no resources for these brilliant young cherubs. Students who have a love for the Spanish language, can find a place they fit right in. Mrs. Johnson's classroom houses the Spanish Club where members take various field trips to learn more than any Spanish class can offer. Club president Julie Smith, and other members strive to understand the culture and gain a better understanding of the world of which we live in. If you're not into hola or adios, au revoir and bonjour may meet your fancy. Right down the hall, but another world away the French Club, with adviser Mr. Kelly, bakes truffles, prepares French cuisines and also goes on various field trips to further their knowledge of the French speaking portion of the world. Sam Elich, the French Club president, leads the club in fundraisers and meetings, bringing the French enthusiasts together. Whether it be the plain in Spain, or the Romance of France, you can find it in the foreign language clubs. So have your translation dictionaries ready, your maracas in hand, and your escargots properly salted.

MUSIC

If you happen to walk through the lobby on a white day, you are sure to hear melodious music resonating out of the doors of the auditorium and band room. This is when the Mansfield High School orchestra and band groups perfect their musical arrangements, which they perform for their peers and the community numerous times throughout the year. The group of violins, violas, cellos and basses on the stage in the auditorium is the orchestra. Every other day, with the help of conductor Mary Casale, they improve on their Vivaldi arrangements and Mozart concertos. With every wave of her baton, Ms. Casale leads her orchestral members to higher musical abilities and prepares them for superior performances. On the other side of the auditorium is the Mansfield High School band consisting of flutes, clarinets, saxophones, percussion and even electric guitars and basses. The band is led by local DJ and MHS alumnus, Peter Conti, who has created an exceptional blend of musicians. Football games wouldn't be the same without our beloved and dedicated band ensemble who in a clutch performance gave a spontaneous rendition of the National Anthem at this year's Superbowl game. The band marches down Main Street at annual holiday parades, and welcomes students to fall rallies in the gym. After the end of the year, we'll be sure to see Mansfield High School trumpeters play on late-night talk shows, guitarists and singers perform live in bands, and violinists in the Boston Pops, and it will have all started in the MHS auditorium.

ROBOTICS

Twenty years from now just as any Will Smith movie might depict, the world could be taken over by robots. The Mansfield High School Robotics club would be where it all started. A few times a week the Robotics club meets in adviser Mr. Carver-Brown's room to do what they do best, build robots. The club participates in an annual competition in which a project is assigned to them, and they must create a robot in six weeks. Last year at the competition which was held in Manchester, the team placed 8th out of over 50 participating teams, and this year the competition in Georgia looks promising. The robot has to fulfill certain qualifications such as being able to interact with humans in particular ways, and it must be a certain size. It also engages with other robots in the competition to complete the required tasks. Some specific tasks that the robot may have to do is picking up balls, stacking plastic storage bins or balancing on teetering bridges. The members of the robotics club work endless hours to achieve their assignments, and we know that if machines control our everyday activities in the future and androids one day run the world, the Robotics Club would be to blame.

It's really hard to keep afloat in a world that is sinking more and more each day, but i have managed to survive because im a survivor. It takes more than negativity to keep me down and block my path of ambition, desire, and faith. My love, my fiends, and family have kept me sane. Mom+dad words can't describe my gratitude. Skank Crew+Celsa thanx for the unstoppable laughs, to "THE GROUP"(you know who you are) thanx for not casting me aside. Only been here for two years, but the good memories are infinite: First day being lost, meeting EP. Junior year trying to overcome strong loyalty to North Quincy. Unforgettable football game, when Quincy brutally lost to Mansfield. Stories of Mr. Shaw. Best times with DC and her books, and listening to DM's hilarious stories. Hocking's AP History, Lev's AP English best classes ever. Anatomy crazy extra credit games. BP lab: frozen hands, falling off chairs, DC screaming- most hilarious memories ever. Leaving school early for summer trip. Unforgettable friends and classmates that made changing schools the easiest thing I've ever done and made the two years at Mansfield worth remembering. Matt Anderson

Congratulations Matt! As you enter this new phase of your life and the inevitable changes that it brings, we know that like many other graduates you are both excited and somewhat apprehensive at the same time. While a natural part of life, change is often unsettling. If at times over the next four years these changes seem overwhelming, remember there is one thing that will never change - the way we feel about you: We love you, we are very proud of you, and we will be there to support you in whatever you do.

Matt Wilder

From preschool to high school, we've been watching you grow. On this, your graduation day, we are more proud than you'll ever know. We love you tremendously. Mom, Dad, Casey and Nick.

You have brought so much pride and joy to our lives. You've grown so beautifully and accomplished so much thus far, and just think the best is yet to come! You may not think so now, but believe me when I say the years go by so fast take the time enjoy the journey, laugh, keep dreaming, trust in yourself, cry when your happy, laugh when your sad, have faith, practice practice, be courageous and strong, appreciate your friends, ask questions, make mistakes, solve problems, take risks, smile, cherish your family, love yourself then others, feel pain, never give up, listen, remember the past, look to the future, leave a piece of you behind, love with all your heart, smell the roses, climb mountains, explore valleys, be young in spirit wise in mind, face your fears, you can do it. We wish you all the happiness and always remember we'll be there for you in good times and bad.

As parents looking back on your past four years of high school we are very proud of the young women you've become. We've seen your responsible and caring nature flourish in your passion working with Mansfield Little Hornets. You made such an amazing impression on the preschoolers, their parents and staff, they have you on a pedestal in their hearts. Through your commitment to cheerleading activities, school pride, academic achievement to National Honor Society, and the way you continue to open the door to many exciting opportunities in the future. Congratulations on all your high school achievements! Keep that good heart and childhood sparkle in your eye and most important always believe in yourself!

Love and happiness always, Mom and Dad

Thank you for the blessings of so many wonderful memories... So many happy moments... So many special joys for being our son... And we look forward to all the blessings of tomorrow for you. We are so proud of you! Congratulations!
With love, Mom & Dad

Priyanka Subash

You have blossomed into a beautiful, caring, and talented young woman. We wish you the very best in all your endeavors and journeys ahead. May you continue to seek and explore and discover life in all its multiple facets. We will always be with you, your loving family,
Ma, Baba and Mihir

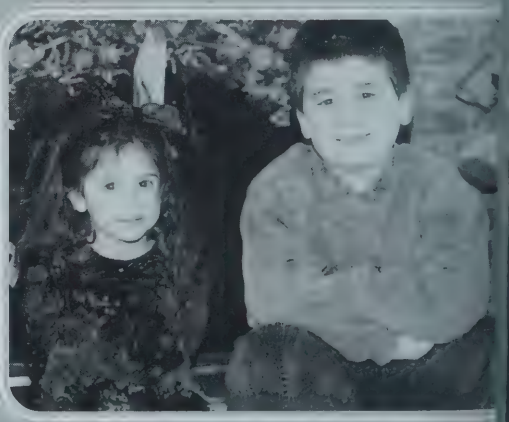
Ashley Drake

Always believe in yourself....because within you lies all of the magic, the hope, the love, and the dreams of tomorrow.... Realize what a talented and unique person you are and that happiness comes when you challenge yourself. And don't ever forget....for even a day....how very special you are. May the joy you have given us for the past 18 years continue on as you journey through life. We are so proud of you and your many accomplishments at MHS. Congratulations Ashley!! Thanks for the memories.

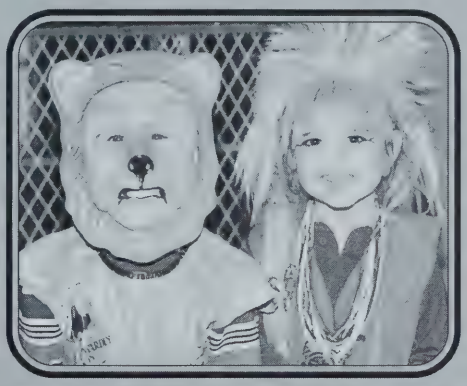
We love you! Mom, Dad, and Eddie



Rachael Feely

Words can't describe how proud we are of you. The common sense you've shown since the age of two, when on your own you put your boots on to play in the snow unlike your three older sisters, will take you far in your pursuit of sports boradcasting. You have becme a beautiful young woman, but never forget, you will always be our "baby girl."

Love, Mom, Dad, Tricia, Caitlin and Meredith



Keith Michael Mantia

There are so many things we want to tell you as you enter this new phase of your life. Most importantly, we are very proud of you and your many accomplishments in life. You have a bright future with many new ventures ahead of you. Never lose your genuine excitement for life and love for others. You are a very special young man. We love you endlessly. Congratulations!

Love Mom and Dad

Ashley Fallon

Jessica Casey

The first of the Casey clan to leave the nest. You will be missed when you embark on your new endeavors. We are confident you will succeed because you are outgoing! Fearlessly friendly and sincerely a fine example of a confident, intelligent young woman whose possibilities are endless.

We love you,
Mom & Dad, James & Kevin

CONGRATULATIONS
JILLY WILLY!
God has truly blessed us with the best daughter any parent could have. From the moment you were born, you have brought sunshine to our lives. As you continue on to the next chapter of your life, may you always know that you are loved. We are so proud of you.
Love you to pieces.
Mom and Dad

Where has the time gone? It seems like yesterday when you were the sweet little boy who loved to laugh and make people laugh. Look at you now, all grown and still laughing and making those silly faces that we love so much. We know that whatever direction your life takes it will be your personality and good humor that we will always cherish. We are so proud of all that you have accomplished. Keep on smiling.

Love, Mom and Dad

It's so hard to believe it's your senior year and high school will soon be over. It's been an incredible journey and so much fun. Our little boy, who always entertained us and "ran the show" has grown up to be a fine young man. You've proved to us that with the right atttitude, determination and level of commitment that anything in life is possible. You have worked hard and accomplished so much - we are so proud of you. Jon, always remember to DREAM BIG...you can do and be whatever you want to be. God bless you.

Love, Mom, Dad and Bill

Bobby Mudge

To us you'll always be the little boy who can light up a room with your smile. You have grown so much in so many ways and we are so proud of the man we see you becoming. Remember to always be proud of who you are and remain true to yourself and success and happiness will follow you through life's journey.

We love you!

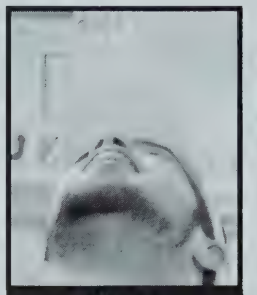
What were you doing Tuesday



Jon Antonucci

Who brought the donuts? Thanks for the ten extra pounds. Writing all over the board, leaving trash everywhere, hanging with Murph, introducing country, puking in the sink- ouch "If you only knew." POOP, tires, and occasionally yearbook

Rachel Buchanan

I was writing endless captions, cropping the photo Priyanka couldn't, and waiting for our "creative" ideas to be shot down. Eating junkfood that ruined my dinner was a highlight, along with begging Chrissy to fix the dysfuncional computers.

Chrissy Bombard

Ate junkfood and pizza, occassionally did my assigned work only when the deadline was a day away, helped distract Priyanka and Rachel from doing their work as well as coming up with bad captions and my witty jokes. P.S. I love Jess Casey.

Jessica Casey

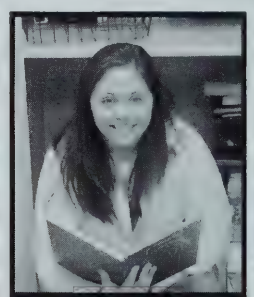
I was listening to Murph say "Put that on the back burner" or "what's my other option?" to my awful ideas. Sorry don't have any fun jokes b/c was too busy doing everyone else's work : cropping, captions P.S. I love Chrissy Bombard.

Chad Furey

Brainstormin', eatin stuff, coming late, leaving early, POOP, DJing, Pictures, always being on task, getting swirlies, and running around

Sarah Jaquette

Cropping, Mitch Hedberg, Munchkins, "What's my second option?" senior memories, pizza, the beach chair, the Red Sox, lots of music, burnt popcorn, and more cropping



Sarah Karevicius

I was busy doing odd jobs that I, nor anyone else wanted to do, and gaining enormous amounts of weight from all the munchkins and burnt popcorn we had

Jessica Kenney

Great times in yearbook. When we come back for our high school reunion, Miss Murphy will still be finding POOP written in secret spots all around the room. Shelby and I wrote that crazy article that will never be published in the yearbook.

Jon Antonucci, Co-Editor-in-Chief

It was only four years ago and we were all afraid and anxious to be embarking on a new adventure, High School. I always felt that I'd be in Mansfield Public Schools forever before I became a senior, applied to college, and graduated. I feel I can speak for us all by saying that these four years flew by in a flash, filled with hundreds of memories and lifelong lessons that will impact our lives forever. We might forget the name of the person that sat two rows to our right in English class, we will never forget the memories of these last four years.

The biggest lesson I have learned in my high school experience was the success of the 2004 football team. This season started with the team being nowhere to be found in the rankings and everyone saying we were too small, not strong enough, lost too many players to graduation, and that it was Foxboro's year. When the final whistle blew in the 2004 Superbowl at Curry College and we had won our second state title in the last two years, I knew that hardwork, determination, believing, and teamwork will always pay off. Whatever you set your mind to and put 110% into, you can achieve and be successful. The memories and the lessons I have learned with my best friends on the athletic field will live on with me forever.

Now that high school is over, our future is here. If you choose to attend college, begin working, or enter the military, always remember your Mansfield pride, and keep on, keeping on. Thank you all for the memories and good luck in your bright, exciting future.

nights Senior Year?

Alicia Dean

I was avoiding Johnna and Pat eating pizza, munchkins, dumdums, the list goes on. Writing captions 5 times for prom, and avoiding cropping. Spending a 1/2 hour writing one article and spending the other 2 1/2 hours listening to awesome music

Kelly Doherty

I was supervising Pat while he attempted to make popcorn in the teacher's room and photocopies in the library/ yoga room. When I was taking breaks from that I could be found staring at a computer screen entering useless information.

Tina Grant

Laughing at Pat and Chad putting poop all over the room while attempting to enter yearbook sales into a computer with a fuzzy screen.

Shelby Greenfield

Eating ... What else is new? Ok for real... Mitch Hedburg quotes, POOP, munchkin inhalers,Tully burning popcorn, "what's my second option?" cropping, and much love goes out to my partner in crime Sarah Jacquette

Bobby Mudge

Stealing the camera, Sox playoffs, POOP, listening to Chad's ridiculous catchphrases, getting yelled at for goofing off, missing deadlines ... And for the record, that's 23 pieces of Bazooka bubble gum

Priyanka Subash

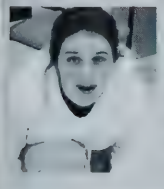
I was writing endless captions with Rachel, watching them "crob" because I didn't know how and thinking of ideas that never seemed to work, gaining pounds because of the endless junkfood and laughing at jokes till my sides hurt

Johnna Todesco

I was at "chill" book doing all of Pat's work that he wasn't allowed to do, asking Ms. Murphy how to fix my Ipod, and listening to Pat say how STUPID he is. Sick music, burnt popcorn POOP, tires ...ALICIA!

Pat Tully

So I can't cook popcorn, sorry I'm so stupid Johnna - if only I was allowed to use the computers, things would have been better, POOP, tires... ALICIA!

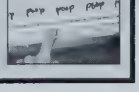


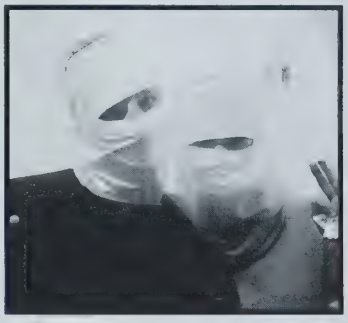
Jess Casey, Co-Editor-in-Chief

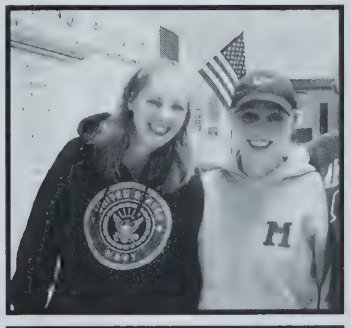
As we, the Class of 2005, embark on the unwritten chapter in our lives, know that their are endless possibilities in the choices to be made. Remember to set your own goals, cherrish everyday, and make the most of every situation. As we depart, know that each individual leaves behind a legacy that will be remembered for years to come. Every book has an end. But in life, every ending brings a new beginning.

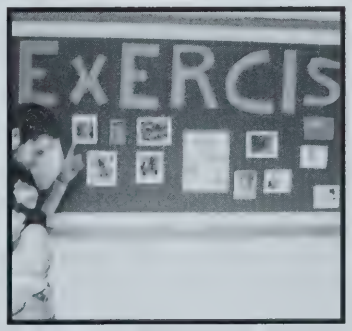
Miss Murphy, Adviser

Being a member of yearbook staff is an endless, thankless job that often goes unnoticed, even long after the yearbooks are handed out. We like to use this last page to try to give you an idea of what goes on, but even then you'll never really know. By reading the quotes above, you might think that it's all fun and munchkins, and wonder who actually does all the work? The students here not only got their work done, but made every Tuesday night meeting from September to February fun amid the croppers and stickers. Even after all these months, I'm still finding post-it notes with that four-letter word all over my room. No task is too big or too small when it comes to publishing a 228 page yearbook, and no one knows that better than the seniors on this page. If you get the chance, thank them for raising the bar for all future yearbooks to come and for keeping each of you in mind as they represented the spirit and diversity of the senior class and school community so well.









You'll always find a piece of Mansfield ...

no matter how far you go.
